

0021 National Chi Nan University - 112 - Intercollegiate Course
Selection Regulations - Draft Amendment Comparison Table

Amended Provisions	Current Provisions	Explanation
Article 2 Intercollegiate course selection should be limited to courses not offered by the respective departments of the university during the current semester or summer term. The principle of reciprocal exchange in cooperation should be adhered to. Students born after 2005 who are pursuing a bachelor's degree and apply for flexible studies due to military service (hereinafter referred to as "enrolled servicemen") are exempt from this restriction in cases of schedule conflicts or other force majeure factors that prevent course selection.	Article 2 Intercollegiate course selection should be limited to courses not offered by the respective departments of this university during the current semester. The principle of reciprocal exchange in cooperation should be adhered to. Students pursuing a bachelor's degree who apply for military service during their studies are exempt from this restriction in cases of schedule conflicts or other force majeure factors that prevent course selection.	Amendments made to align with the flexible study arrangements for students pursuing a bachelor's degree who are serving in the military during their studies.
Article 3 Students of this university who apply for intercollegiate course selection at other universities should complete the application during the course registration period of each semester at this university. For intercollegiate course selection, bachelor's degree students in their first to third years are limited to a maximum of six credits, and the credits should not exceed one-third of the total credits taken at this university in that semester. If	Article 3 Students of this university who apply for intercollegiate course selection at other universities should complete the application during the course registration period of each semester at this university. For intercollegiate course selection, bachelor's degree students in their first to third years are limited to a maximum of six credits, and the credits should not exceed one-third of the total credits taken at this university in that semester. For	Amend the provisions to align with the flexible study arrangements for bachelor's degree students who are serving in the military during their studies.

the enrolled servicemen need to apply for military service during their studies or under other special circumstances and intend to take more credits than the aforementioned limit, they may submit an application. Upon approval by the Dean of Academic Affairs, they will not be subject to this restriction. For bachelor's degree students in their fourth year or above and graduate students, the number of credits for intercollegiate course selection will be determined by the respective department heads. However, they must take at least one course at this university each semester. Students applying for a minor, double major, or credit program at another university are not subject to the previous restriction, but they must take at least two credits at this university each semester. The total number of credits taken at this university and the other university must still comply with the credit limit for each semester set by this university.	bachelor's degree students in their fourth year or above and graduate students, the number of credits for intercollegiate course selection will be determined by the respective department heads, but they must take at least one course at this university each semester. Students applying for a minor, double major, or credit program at another university are not subject to the previous restriction, but they must take at least two credits at this university each semester. The total number of credits taken at this university and the other university must still comply with the credit limit for each semester set by this university.
--	---	--

National Chi Nan University Intercollegiate Course Selection

Regulations (Revised Full Text)

Approved at the second Academic Affairs Meeting of the 84th Academic Year on September 18, 1995

Revised at the second Academic Affairs Meeting of the 86th Academic Year on January 13, 1998

Articles 1, 3, 4, and 5 revised at the second Academic Affairs Meeting of the 88th Academic Year on May 9, 2000

Article 8 revised at the first Academic Affairs Meeting of the 90th Academic Year on September 11, 2001

Approved by the Ministry of Education (Taiwan) with letter (90) No. 90147607 on October 19, 2001

Amended at the seventh Academic Affairs Meeting of the 92nd Academic Year on July 7, 2004

Filed for record by the Ministry of Education (Taiwan) with letter No. 093100808 on August 2, 2004

Amended and approved at the fifth Academic Affairs Meeting of the 102nd Academic Year on March 12, 2014

Amendments filed for record by the Ministry of Education (Taiwan) with letter No. 10300061559 on April 29, 2014

Amended and at the eighth Academic Affairs Meeting of the 111th Academic Year on July 21, 2023

Amended at the 10th Academic Affairs Meeting of the 112th Academic Year on 10/10/2024

Article 1 This regulation is formulated in accordance with Article 28 of the University Act, Article 25 of the Enforcement Rules of the University Act, and Article 16 of the Academic Regulations of this university.

Article 2 Inter-university course selection is limited to courses not offered by our departments in the given semester or summer term and is based on the principle of reciprocal cooperation. Bachelor's degree students born after 2005 who apply for flexible study arrangements due to military service obligations (hereinafter referred to as "enrolled servicemen") are exempt from this limitation if they encounter course schedule conflicts or other force majeure factors that prevent them from selecting courses.

Article 3 Students of this university applying for intercollegiate course selection should complete the application process simultaneously during the course registration period each semester. For students in the bachelor's program from the first to the third year, the maximum number of credits for inter-university courses is limited to six credits and must not exceed one-third of the total credits taken at this university for that semester. However, enrolled servicemen who apply for flexible study arrangements due to military service or other special circumstances may exceed this limit if they submit an application and receive approval from the Academic Affairs Dean.

For bachelor's degree students in their fourth year and above, as well as graduate students, the number of credits for inter-university courses is determined by the department heads. However, students must take at least one course at this university each semester.

Students applying for cross-university minor programs, double majors, or credit programs are not subject to the previous limitation. However, they must take at least two credits at this university each semester. The total number of credits taken at both this university and other universities must still comply with the maximum credit limit set by this university for each semester.

Article 4 Students from other institutions applying for intercollegiate course selection at this school must complete the process from the start of each semester's course registration period until the course add/drop deadline. Late applications will not be accepted.

Article 5 Students applying for intercollegiate course selection should fill out the intercollegiate course selection form and follow the procedures listed below. They must also pay the credit fees and complete the intercollegiate course registration procedures as stipulated by each institution. If the course selection is not completed according to the regulations, the credits and grades will not be recognized.

1. After the intercollegiate course selection form for this school's students has been signed and approved by the relevant department and the Academic Affairs Office's Curriculum Section, the student should take the form to the other institution to complete the course registration procedures. Once it is signed and approved by the department and the Academic Affairs Office of the other institution, the form should be photocopied four times. Two copies should be submitted to the department and the Academic Affairs Office of the other institution for registration and record-keeping. One copy and the original form should be brought back to this school and submitted to the student's department and the Curriculum Section of the Academic Affairs Office for registration. The remaining copy is for the student to keep.
2. The intercollegiate course selection form for students from other institutions is issued by their home school. After obtaining the necessary signatures and approvals from their respective department and the Academic Affairs Office, the students should take the form to the relevant department at this school for registration and stamping. The form should then be submitted to the Curriculum Section of this school's Academic Affairs Office to complete the course selection procedures. Once completed, the form should be photocopied four times. Two copies should be submitted to the relevant department and the Curriculum Section of this school for registration. One copy and the original form should be brought back to the home school and submitted to their respective department and Academic Affairs Office for registration and record-keeping. The remaining copy is for the student to keep.

Article 6 When students from this school take courses at another institution, they must follow the intercollegiate course selection regulations of the other institution. The class times must not conflict with the subjects they are taking at this school. If any conflicts are found, the conflicting subjects will be canceled.

Article 7 Students from other institutions who have completed the intercollegiate course selection process at this school must adhere to the regulations. Except for courses that are canceled due to insufficient enrollment, students are not permitted to withdraw from courses or request refunds. At the end of each semester, the Registration Section of the Academic Affairs Office should send the grades of these students to their home institution for grade recording purposes.

Article 8 Students from this school may not apply for intercollegiate course selection at other institutions, and departments at this school may not accept applications from students of other institutions for intercollegiate course selection that do not follow the regulations set forth in this policy.

Article 9 This policy will be announced and implemented after approval by the Academic Affairs Committee.